How to generate D&D character art

Describe your character like a recipe — three steps to a portrait.

1

Describe your character

Give the race and class, then key gear, outfit, expression, and a setting — for example, a dwarf cleric in golden armor holding a warhammer, temple background. The more specific, the closer the art.

2

Generate and restyle

Review the portrait, tweak your wording, and generate again. Add a style — full body, ink sketch, oil painting — to change the look.

3

Use it at your table

Use the art on your character sheet, in your virtual tabletop, or as a reference for a commissioned piece later.
